What does social justice in education mean?

Five very different people from different backgrounds have different answers, but yet all were drawn to the field of education. From rural communities, military bases, cities, to Native American reservations, each has discovered a personal way to overcoming educational barriers and giving back to their communities and nations.

Monday, October 3, 2016
1:30-2:30 p.m.
Documentary Premiere followed by Discussion
Forum Hall
K-State Student Union

Everyone is Welcome

Sign Language Interpreters will be available
Livestream available at website listed below

College of Education students may earn 1-2 professional growth hours

coe.k-state.edu/walk-in-my-shoes/social-justice